Official Diary

Monday, 9 July 1951

Talked to AD/CI about intelligence we were providing General Eisenhower. At present, we prepare a weekly summary every Friday, eliminating all items being sent by G-2 and trying merely to fill in the gaps by providing economic intelligence, etc. As these summaries are from sources, they are transmitted through G-2 communications channels but CIA is given a by-line and receives credit. AD/CI said that this was a weekly instead of a daily summary in accordance with the desires of the Director.

Talked to [ ] about the Assistant Directors' meetings and how we could get more items for the agenda. We both feel that there should be a two-way flow in these meetings and it might be possible for the Director or Mr. Jackson to talk to the Assistant Directors on policy or planning matters and give them general guidance.

Chet Hansen has arranged a meeting for the General with Representative Vinson at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. A memorandum in regard to our plans for building will be prepared as will a small map showing location and approaches. The General will take the lap map and some briefing cards in case Rep. Vinson wants to discuss the current world situation. Pforzheimer will go with the Director.
